MET WITH A MISHAP.

Lighthouse Tender Magnolia Hits a Fruit Steamer.

BOTH ARE AGROUND

Revenue Cutter Ivy Goes After the President and Party, Lands Them Safely on West Virginia and Coast Trip Begins.

New Orleans, Oct. 27.—A long distance telephone message from Nairn, La., sixty miles down the Mississippi river, announced the lighthouse tender Magnolia with President Roosevelt and party on board had a collision with the fruit steamer Esparata shortly after midnight this morning.

The news came through a message from Captain W. M. Rose of the Es-parata. Captain Rose reported that both vessels were aground at the river bank and that no one was seriously hurt.
The presidential party was not injured.
Two tugs at once left New Orleans for the scene of the accident.

The revenue cutter Ivy, lying at Pilot Town, proceeded at once to the scene and took the president and party on board en route to the cruise West Virginia. The cutter quickly covered the distance separating the two vessels.
As the Ivy approached a presidential salute was sounded from the warship.
The transfer after the Ivy reached the big ship's side was a matter of but a few minutes, the weather being fine and clear, with little sea running. At 9:40 o'clock the president stepped on board the West Virginia safe and sound after a strenuous experience here and on the trip down the river.
The West Virginia lifted her anchors and before 10 o'clock started on her journey up the coast.

The lighthouse office here received the following dispatch from Commander Sears, United States navy, dated Nairn, La.:

"The lighthouse tender Magnolia was struck on port side by steamship Esparata, near Sixty-Mile Point. No one was injured. The Magnolia grounded. The president and party were transferred to lighthouse tender Ivy, which was accompanying the Magnolia, and proceeded to the West Virginia on time. The master, officers and pilot were on duty on board the Magnolia at the time of the collision.
It is believed the Magnolia can make necessary repairs to return to New Orleans under her own steam."

The lighthouse tender Ivy returned from sea after putting President Roosevelt on board the West Virginia and stopped at Pilot Town. Those on board reported the West Virginia sailed at 10:05. They said the president was in excellent spirits and unshaken by the accident. At the time of the accident the president was absolutely worn out by his strenuous experience at New Orleans and was fast asleep. He turned in shortly after the vessel left New Orleans. The president showed no excitement when informed of the extent of the disaster, though he was somewhat annoyed by the probability of being delayed, because it was evident the Magnolia could not proceed on her way. Except for the loss of some sleep, the president suffered nothing by the collision.

It was stated the disaster happened about 11 o'clock Thursday night.

HICKS RESIGNS.

Culmination at Sensational Charges That Were Filed.

Shreveport, Oct. 27.—Formal notice of his resignation was sent Governor Blanchard by City Judge Hicks, the culmination of sensational charges filed against him several weeks ago with a view to his impeachment. Judge Hicks declared his innocence, but stated that in view of a long and acrimonious trial he preferred to resign. Three more years of his term remained. The resignation will have the effect of stopping further proceedings in what promised to be the most sensational trial ever heard in this part of the south. Malfeasance, nonfeasance, embezzlement, extortion, incompetency, intoxication and unbecoming conduct were among the specific counts of the original petition for impeachment filed in the district court about a month ago.

SUBWAY RECEIPTS.

One Hundred and Six Million Nickels Collected in Fares.

New York, Oct. 27.—One year ago Thursday the subway was opened to the public. A hundred and six million passengers have since paid a nickel apiece to ride in it. It has realized the wishes of those who for years had waited for a railroad that would send them "to Harlem in fifteen minutes."

During its first quarter it achieved the record of earning a surplus and at the end of its second quarter it had accumulated a surplus of $1,500,000 over fixed charges and payments into the sinking fund.

Brothers Marry Sisters.

Prague, Okla., Oct. 27.—Near here ness lots sold from $35 to $255 and residence ones from $30 to $75.

AUSTIN AFFAIRS.

Number of Interesting Items From Texas' Capital City.

Austin, Oct. 27.—The railroad commission received a letter from Superintendent S. W. Gaines of the railway mail service, headquarters at Fort Worth, in which he complains that the order of the commission requiring the International and Great Northern to run on schedule time out of Longview causes delay in mail service, as that road misses connection with the Iron Mountain and Texas and Pacific, which contain through mail. He says if the train waits for the mail the company is penalized by the commission, and if the railroad does not wait it is penalized by the government. He wanted to know what to do about the matter. The commission replied that it will stand pat on its order.

The Waters-Pierce Oil company advised the comptroller that it would pay penalties as required by the state under Love tax bill. The tax and penalties aggregate $17,500.

The attorney general has filed four suits of the state against oil companies to test validity of section 9, Kennedy bill, which seeks to tax oil companies as wholesale dealers.

MADDOX WINS SUIT.

He Gets Judgment Against Houston Chronicle at Austin.

Austin, Oct. 27.—The jury in the case of Frank M. Maddox against the Houston Chronicle Publishing company returned a verdict for plaintiff for $2000 damages—$1000 as exemplary and $1000 actual. Maddox sued the Chronicle for $50,000 for alleged libel in printing that he had gone to Mexico at the time when Austin bogus bond issue was discovered.

It is understood an appeal will be taken by the Chronicle. The case was tried before Judge Brooks of the Twenty-sixth district court.

roads entering this city against ticket brokers. A temporary restraining order was issued last week.

TO TIME VISIT.

Taft and Party Want to Be at Panama on Second Anniversary.

Washington, Oct. 27.—At the earnest request of officials Secretary Taft and party will endeavor to be in Panama Nov. 3, the second anniversary of the republic. Panama officials believe his presence on this occasion will do much to strengthen the relations between this country and the isthmian republic. It was arranged that the party leave on the cruiser Columbia at once for Colon from Old Point Comfort.
The secretary will make as thorough an investigation as possible. He hopes to return to Washington by Nov. 15.
A number of officials connected with the fortifications board will accompany the secretary to secure preliminary information needed relative to fortifications at terminals of canal.

Members of the Taft fortification board who do not accompany the secretary of war to Panama have arranged for a trip of investigation, to include the entire Atlantic coast from Narragansett, in Rhode Island, to Galveston. These officers have already made an investigation of the coast from the Canadian boundary to Narragansett, and the contemplated tour will afford fortifications to ascertain what is necessary in the way of additional fortifications for the remainder of the Atlantic coast so a complete report can be made for the use of congress.
The officers will travel mostly by rail.

HEROIC FIRE FIGHTERS.

Were in Constant Danger of Being Blown Up or Maimed.

New York, Oct. 27.—In momentary danger of being killed or maimed by explosions, the firemen fought early Friday morning one of the worst fires for weeks, and which destroyed the six-story building occupied by the Crown Cordial and Extract company and others. The loss is estimated at $200,000.
As the firemen were raising their ladders the reports of the explosions of the alcohol and spirits stored in the building were almost constant.

Him to Lose an Eye.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Toledo, O., says: Will E. Granger, one of the members of a company playing a melodrama here

BRYAN, TEXAS, OCTOBER 28.

DEATH OF DR. T. C. BITTLE.

End Came Suddenly but Peacefully After an Active and Useful Life.

As briefly stated in the Eagle yesterday morning, Dr. T. C. Bittle died of heart failure at his home at Collego Station Thursday evening at 6:45 o'clock. Dr. Bittle was born and reared at Salem, Roanoke county, Va., and was 64 years old. He was educated at Roanoke College, Roanoke, Va., and came to Texas just previous to the civil war, during which he was an adjutant in the Confederate service. He located at Manor after the war and was married at that place in 1867 to Miss Octavia Atwood, who survives him. Dr. Bittle engaged in teaching at Manor, and still owns a home and farm there. He also taught in Austin a number of years, conducting a seminary. Later he moved back to Virginia and taught for some time in Roanoke College, his alma mater. Returning to Texas, he again settled at Manor, and was rector of the Episcopal church at Manor, Rockdale, Bastrop and other points. Dr. Bittle moved to Collego to accept the chair of languages some fifteen years ago, and has since served continuously as professor of languages and chaplain. He leaves a wife and eight children, Mr. Guy Bittle of Bryan, Prof. Atwood Bittle of Washington, La., Prof. Percy Bittle of Henderson, Tom C. Bittle of the City of Mexico, Dr. Frank Bittle of Texarkana, Mrs. C. C. Todd of San Antonio, Cadet George Bittle and Miss Helen Bittle of Collego. He also leaves a brother, Mr. Beale Bittle of Collego, and three sisters, two of whom are residing in Virginia and one in North Carolina.

Dr. Bittle was a profound scholar. His father was a teacher before him and two of his sons have followed after him in the noble calling. He was also an able and consecrated Episcopal minister, with the degree of Doctor of Divinity, and the thousands of young men instructed under him had his precepts and the example of his pure and blameless life. He never shirked a duty, and no man was more unassuming or more unselfish. He was esteemed and beloved as few men are, and thousands of hearts in Texas and elsewhere will be filled with sadness by the news of his death. He labored to the end. Death met him in the shadows of the evening of a busy day, and found him ready for the final summons; ready to lay aside the frailties of mortality and put on the strength and beauty of immortality.

Rt. Rev. George Kingsolving, Bishop of Texas, who is a cousin of Dr. Bittle, will conduct the funeral services this morning at 9 o'clock at the assembly hall at Collego, after which the procession will start directly for the Bryan cemetery, where the interment will take place about 11 o'clock.

AN EXPERT SHOT.

Capt. Bartlett Demonstrates His Ability as a Marksman and Efficiency of Peters' Powder.

Capt. George E. Bartlett the "marvelous marksman," gave a fine exhibition in Bryan yesterday morning.

Captain Bartlett is a promoter of shooting, and is employed by Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., of Chicago, and the Peters Cartridge Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, to visit gun clubs and show the shooters what can be done with first-class ammunition, and he certainly fills the bill. He shot all manner of ways and demonstrated fully the many superior points of Peters' cartridges, both with shot-gun and different calibre rifles. His introductory shots were made with a 30-30 rifle. With this rifle the captain made dust of pieces of brick thrown high in the air. Then came the great test of high velocity and excessive penetration. Four pieces of 1/4-inch boiler plate steel, 2 1/2 inches square, were thrown in the air and promptly punctured, the cartridge being what is known as a soft nose or mushroom bullet. These cartridges fit any 30-30 rifle perfectly and are loaded with 29 grains of special sporting military smokeless powder, made especially for this cartridge and they have a velocity of 2000 feet per second.

With a Stevens Ideal rifle 32-20 he did some pretty work at looking glass shooting, breaking small pieces of brick by reflections of a small pocket mirror and holding the rifle in all manner of positions and angles. With a 22-calibre rifle he shot showers of small pieces of brick about the size of a walnut that were thrown in the air in rapid succession. He shot 200 shots out of this rifle without cleaning the gun and then invited the crowd to look through the barrel and see the cleanest rifle barrel they ever saw with less than a quarter of that many shots. In fact, the barrel was not fouled at all and did not look as if more than one shot had been fired through it. This was a demonstration of the superiority of semi smokeless powder over the common black powder; it costs no more.

The results of the shooting done by Captain Bartlett can be seen at the Cole Hardware Co.'s store (which firm carries a full line of this famous Peters ammunition, rifles, revolvers and shotguns), where the punctured steel, washers, etc., were left.

Captain Bartlett is an ex-Deputy U. S. marshal and scout from Dakota and was in the Sioux war of '90 and '91, and carries as a souvenir of that struggle a slight limp, the result of a 45 90 bullet tearing away his right knee cap. He is a good entertainer, talks about his ammunition in a fluent and convincing manner, and is certainly the best advertisement for the Peters Cartridge Company they could possibly get hold of.

CURES CATARRHAL DEAFNESS.

One Week's Use of Hyomei Did More Than Six Months' Treatment by Specialists.

In the treatment of deafness, which is often a result of catarrh, Hyomei acts almost immediately upon the inflamed membrane, and the hearing begins to return at once. A few days' treatment will bring relief, and in three or four weeks, according to the severity of the case, a cure will be accomplished.

Miss Meeks of Mattewan, N. Y., says: "Hyomei is truly wonderful. I have used it but a short time and see a great change in my condition. My hearing is improving rapidly, and I had no idea I would improve so rapidly in so short a time. My breath, which was very offensive to myself and others, has lost its bad odor entirely. I have spent a great deal of money with catarrh specialists, and can truly say that six months of their treatment is not equal to one month of Hyomei."

E. J. Jenkins is selling Hyomei upon the unusual plan of agreeing to return the money if the medicine does not cure. A complete outfit costs only $1.00, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler will last a lifetime, and there is enough Hyomei for several weeks' treatment. Additional bottles of Hyomei can be procured for 50 cents. Compare this small expense with the fees charged by specialists, and then remember that if Hyomei does not cure, E. J. Jenkins will return your money.

What other treatment for catarrh and catarrhal colds is sold in this way?

This is to certify that Dr. Behrens treated me in February, '04, for a very bad case of nervousness. Where others have failed to give me relief he cured me. I was at the time of calling on him, down, and sleep was impossible. My husband had lost sleep at night for months, now all can rest in perfect ease. He also treated my mother at the same time for a severe headache and neuralgia. Dr. Behrens gave her instant relief while talking to her over the phone.

MULTITUDE TOO MANY

So Great Was Gathering President Had to Stop.

COULD NOT BE HEARD

Police and Soldiers Were Unable to Control the Immense Concourse That Greeted Chief Executive Thursday.

New Orleans, Oct. 27.—At the end of nine strenuous hours of various entertainment in New Orleans, which brought his exceptionally pleasant trip through the south to a close, President Roosevelt at 6:30 o'clock Thursday night boarded the lighthouse tender Magnolia and began the first stage of his return journey to the national capital.

The president's reception was a signal testimonial of popular esteem and of grateful recognition of the service which he had rendered the city in her period of distress. New Orleans remembered not only that the president had acted with characteristic promptness when asked to put the Federal surgeons in charge of the fever struggle, but that throughout the fight he had sustained the people of the stricken city with expressions of unfailing sympathy, and when a large share of the public opinion of the country opposed his venturing into New Orleans, with the fever still prevalent, he refused to consider the element of personal danger and declared his purpose to keep the promise he made when he accepted the original invitation to come.

Probably for the first time in his public career the president was compelled to abandon a public address before he got well started on it. The crowd jammed St. Charles street from the property line to property line all the way from Poydras to North street, and it spread over Lafayette square almost from St. Charles to Camp streets. Probably 50,000 people were gathered in and around the stand from which the president was to have delivered his address. When the president decided to abandon his effort he shouted to the throng to go home and be good citizens and then disappeared into the mayor's parlors well nigh exhausted. To those about him he expressed himself as intensely pleased with the demonstration in his honor, which was far beyond his expectations. Never before was such a crowd seen here.

The moment the president was recognized a tremendous cheer went up and the crowd, densely packed as it was, surged forward and threatened to crush in part of the grand stand. The president realized that an accident was imminent, and if the crowd was not soon dispersed there might be serious trouble. He urged Mayor Behrman to introduce him immediately, which was done simply, though the mayor's voice was drowned in the hubbub. The president climbed upon the railing before which he was to speak, supported by the mayor, though he kept his balance admirably.

He waved his hand to the crowd and the enthusiasm broke forth with redoubled vigor. He urged the crowd to keep still and called their attention to the fact that many women were caught in the jam and might be injured. Each utterance of his though unheard by the mass of humanity, evoked a cheer and a waving of handkerchiefs and parasols, and then the president tried to deliver a short speech. It was impossible and he realized the futility of it.

"There seems to be two or three people in the street," he started, when a voice interrupted with the question, "Did you have this crowd in Little Rock?"

"That's all right," answered the president. "Stay right there now," he added, addressing the crowd which was beyond control. The mayor attempted to secure silence and the president began again.

"My fellow countrymen; give me a chance," whereat there was a tremendous roar of applause and a voice shouted: "We give you one, and we will give you another."

The ovation given to the president throughout the parade surpassed anything of its kind ever seen here. There was scarcely a moment when the president retained his seat in the carriage. For two miles he stood bowing enthusiastically to the cheering throng.

The climax of the day's entertainment was the luncheon, which started shortly after 3 o'clock, and was prolonged fifteen minutes beyond the time set for it as a result of the continuous ovation given to the president. The president sat beneath the Pelican state flag. The address was almost conversational in character and almost chiefly local in tone. His tribute to Lee, his declaration that he would have come here while the fever was raging at its worst at a word from Governor Blanchard or Mayor Behrman, the reference being to the efforts that were made to dissuade him a visit at this time, his assertion that he never said anything to an audience simply to please them, when he did not feel it, his assurance that the care of the levees was a national necessity and the Panama canal was to be built speedily, surely and well, his tribute to the heroism of those who had been active in the fever fight and finally his announcement that, at the request of the governor and the mayor, he had decided to keep Dr. White here as long as he might be needed, all brought from the audience expressions of the most intense enthusiasm.

When the president concluded he was again heartily cheered. There were repeated calls for Dr. White, who spoke briefly.

One Minute Cough Cure not only destroys the disease germs, and clears out their poison, but it gives strength and elasticity to the delicate membranes which protect the throat and lungs. Opens the air passages and promotes unobstructed breathing. Causes the blood to receive its natural supply of oxygen, thus exhilarating the pulmonary organs with such strength and vigor that the lungs and bronchial tubes become bulwarks against the inception of disease.
